To Whom this May Concern,

As a Full Stack Developer and recent graduate from Full Stack Academy, I have successfully completed a range of courses that have provided me with a foundation in Software Engineering. This is why I believe my background speaks volumes as to why I would be a unique addition to your team!

Skills picked up throughout my course can be immediately seen through my most recent projects put out on Github and deployed through Heroku. My colleagues and I have worked on a few teams to create social media websites and useful task managing platforms.

Related skills have been developed through 6 years in Real Estate. I can say I have successfully used technology to my advantage of gaining sales and a large network. While increasing commission sales by $1.3 million in the first 3 years and outputting over 200 ads daily. On the side, I have also interned at a few media companies where I had my original exposure to engineering. I have done multiple brand strategy executions and have worked alongside web developers in the process. I have continued to use these skills as a WebMaster for Sigma Kappa Sorority at Rutgers University.

I am confident that with my skills and strong academic background that I am an ideal candidate. I have successfully managed my time by balancing different organizations, as well as creating and maintaining valuable relationships in that process. After reviewing my resume, I hope you will agree that my qualifications meet those required to be a part of your team!

I am available to speak with you at any time in regards to how I would add value to your company. If you wish to contact me prior to that time, please feel free to do so at (626) 228-5134 or at eyoung135@gmail.com. Your time and attention is much appreciated!

Sincerely,
